What is a local housing strategy and why is it important overview

To address housing challenges, the National Community of Practice on Local Housing Policy recommends that all cities and counties in high-cost regions develop a comprehensive local housing strategy.

This brief provides an overview of the content and scope of effective local housing strategies and the many purposes they can serve. There is no one approach that is right for every jurisdiction. Jurisdictions of all sizes can develop a local housing strategy that addresses the core components listed above in a manner suited to their needs and capacity.